

Resolutions for the Wisconsin Association of School Boards convention were approved along with new hires and a resignation at the Neenah Joint School District Board of Education meeting on September 3.

The Board supported forwarding resolutions regarding mental health and staff retention, standardization for public, private and charter schools, aid equalization parity and early childhood education.

Teaching hires were approved for Linda Stichman as a speech and language pathologist, Taylor Schmidt at Horace Mann, Matthew Kinderman at the high school. Educational assistant hires were approved for Angela Wendling, Kelly Klesmit and Melissa Marquardt at the middle school, Tammy Zelinski at Spring Road and Ashley Bartelt at Horace Mann. A resignation was approved for Roger Ferguson at the downtown campus, effective September 26.

Nina Bhattacharjee and Jace Ostermeier were present for their first meeting of the school year as student representatives and provided a student report.